

Tom Vousden Designing and creating high end furniture at the heart of the Island

Tom Vousden Design is based in Llangefni and is receiving acclaim for its beautiful furniture, design and quality of manufacture, its range of bespoke clients continues to increase. In September 2012 Tom exhibited a new range of contemporary furniture at the London 100% Design Show, it generated exciting trade interest for this young Anglesey designer and craftsman.

Tom established his business in Llangefni after finishing a Three Dimensional Design course at Manchester Metropolitan University in 2011, his style had attracted a number of clients wanting bespoke pieces of design, manufacturing quality and uniqueness.

Continuing to develop his skills as a designer/maker Tom now creates high-end home furnishings using quality materials. His use of modern technologies and techniques within the manufacture alongside his hand making skills is retained, to include the authenticity that has always been a hallmark of his craft.

Tom’s furniture design is beautifully simple and features stunning grain joints in the carefully selected timber he uses. These pieces launched at the London Show incorporate hand turned oak buttons and hand dyed local wool by Iona Challinor www.ionachallinordesign.co.uk with colours inspired by Parys Mountain, here on Anglesey.
