

“Thank you for your kind welcome to this fabulous bit of paradise on Anglesey.

It was everything described on the website and more. The facilities available were immaculate and cleaned daily. My first experience of glamping and it was 5star plus.

Will definitely be recommending to all in Cheshire.”

Yurts at Ty'n Buarth

Anglesey Yurt Holidays is a diversification of a working family farm, the newly established business Anglesey Yurt Holidays is doing well after a busy summer season offering a different visitor experience to Anglesey.

Enjoying spectacular views of the north-west coast on one side and the Snowdonia Mountains on the other, the farm's tranquil setting offers walkers and cyclists idyllic country lanes to explore.

The Yurts are situated facing the beautiful view of the North West coast of Anglesey. All the 18ft Yurts are tastefully decorated in a simple and contemporary style. Each one sleeps 2 to 4 persons (can accommodate a fifth) and includes a double bed and two futons adapting to beds. They are complete with their own deckchairs and BBQ for sitting and dining outside. Warm and cosy evenings can be spent relaxing beside the log burner. Plenty of throws and cushions make the stay ultra-comfortable with fairy lights being powered by solar panels.

On site is a clean, light and airy toilet and shower block with flushing toilets and disabled facilities. They offer shaving points for the gents and electric points for the ladies hairdryers. Adjoining is the kitchen area with its own outside space for eating and dining; the pretty country kitchen has a large dining table to sit around and a cosy lounge corner to play board games or just to sit and relax.

What is glamping..?

It's a global trend that has caught fire; offering outdoor enthusiasts an upgrade on rest and recreation. It is called glamping, a new word for a new kind of travel, defined as glamorous camping. When you're glamping, there's no tent to pitch, no sleeping bag to unroll, no fire to build. Whether in a tent, yurt, airstream, hut, villa or treehouse, glamping is a way to experience the great outdoors without sacrificing luxury.

The yurts project was completed at the end of February 2014 and included the purchase of yurts, the building of the shower block, kitchen facilities, soft landscaping and a website. Menter Môn introduced funding through Rural Development Plan.
